

MATH HOMEWORK REQUIREMENTS

Assignments are to be records of complete problems, not just answer sheets. Remember, communication is just as important in math as it is in any other subject or situation, so communicate clearly to me what you did to solve the problem.

When doing assignments, begin with writing out the problem as given... include any diagram that is required to answer the problem. Anybody looking at your completed assignment should be able to, without the book, understand what is being asked and see a clear order of what steps you took to find the solution. Often, answers can be short and may not require much in the way of solution steps, especially in problems with diagrams.

Daily homework grades will be assessed on completeness, not accuracy. Work not shown as described above will not receive full credit.
